

Interesting articles and facts on biology and medicine

Cheap Essay Writing Service

Asymmetry of the human face Interesting facts

In this article, we will try to understand some properties of the structure of the human face, and why there are so many people who do not like their own photos, and what to do about it?

Virus - a friend or enemy? Myths and reality

An interesting article about what the role of viruses in the evolution of mankind. For a separate person infected with any virus, this virus, of course, is great evil. But for humanity as a whole, everything is not so unequivocal.

Due to what we see in 3D? Interesting Facts

A person is capable of a two-dimensional picture to make a very complete concept of distances to depicted objects, their shape and sizes, and thus completely perceive the three-dimensional world in its entire depth. How do we achieve this?

Can people feel the temperature? Interesting Facts

Many of us think that they can measure the temperature of the surrounding items. But it is not so. In this article, let's try to figure it out as a trick, and what do we really feel?

One of the most important moments in the history of life is simply about complex

Complex forms of life outside look different. But all plants, single-celled organisms, animals and even people at the simpler level consist of a similar material - from cells that include kernels.

The main facts about the genetics and the human genome is simple about complex

The material of this article will introduce the reader with the basic concepts of genetics, and with the interesting properties of the human genome. Genetics is the science of the laws of heredity and variability. Depending on the object of the study, it is classified by the genetics of plants, animals, microorganisms, humans, and so on.

Why do leaves change color? Interesting Facts

In this article we will discuss why or why do leaves change color before winter? How is this process? Why color leaves becomes yellow or red?

Is it true that the brain works for only 10%? Myths and reality

Nowadays, you can often meet with the opinion that the human brain is supposedly operating by only 10% of all its capabilities. Based on this approval, the plot of some popular films is even built. Let's try to figure out whether each of us really can suddenly become a thing of ten times smarter, or is it myth, and if so, where did he come from?

Thirty amazing facts about all interesting facts

Perhaps you read a lot of interesting things, but probably there is something else that you can surprise you. This article contains 30 interesting and reliable facts from biology, history, geography, physics and other sciences that will definitely not leave you indifferent.

What do we know about modern theories of evolution? Just about the difficult

In this article, some misses will be briefly considered, in the theory of evolution based only on natural selection. By the way, evolution is a natural process of developing wildlife, accompanied by a change in the genetic composition of populations, the formation of adaptations, the speciation and extinction of species, the transformation of ecosystems and the biosphere as a whole.